This exquisite Suffolk pink farmhouse, made of timber and clay lump, has a rich history dating back to the Tudor period, with later Victorian extensions. Many of the wonderful period features, such as exposed timber beams and brickwork, have been preserved throughout. Window and door furnishings have also been installed to complement the historic nature of the property.

The location of the property is perfect “we are situated on a very quiet lane yet located between the A140 and the A143 so the access is great and we are only five minutes from Diss” explains the current owner. The property truly is a haven from the outside world and a delightful place to call home.

The property has been meticulously cared for, blending rustic charm with modern conveniences to create a welcoming home tailored to the needs of today’s family looking for their own rural gem. “The house has such a wonderful, calm atmosphere, you can’t help but relax here.”

The property is accessed via a convenient porch to the front of the property, which provides a useful space to ditch your muddy boots after a long countryside walk – and rest assured there are many routes to explore!

The proportions of the fabulous sitting room are so generous that the current owners have chosen to designate one end for formal dining, although there is ample space in the kitchen/dining room should you prefer to utilise the entire space as a sitting room.

Abundant natural light bathes the room, streaming in through four windows on two sides and offering pleasant views of the surrounding grounds. To one end of the room is an original inglenook fireplace with a functional woodburner. There is a feature fireplace to the other end of the room, again lending itself well to dual purposing of the space.

The capacious farmhouse kitchen/dining room is a delightful and well-lit space. It boasts an array of extensive cream-coloured cabinets, beautifully complemented by granite countertops. A generously sized matching island unit not only offers extra space for food preparation but also provides a casual seating area. The kitchen also has an integrated cooker and the obligatory country kitchen essential, an Aga.

Leading from the kitchen is generous utility room. The room has been fitted with a run of cabinets and worktops, providing storage for surplus kitchen items in addition to under-worktop space for a washing machine and drier. A door leads from this room to the garden. An adjoining shower room completes the rooms to the ground floor.

The first floor has four spacious bedrooms, all accessed via the central landing. Each room is light and airy, with whitewashed beams reminding you of the property's history. The master bedroom has an en-suite bathroom and an eye-catching feature fireplace.

The family bathroom is a tranquil room with soft grey tiling, whitewashed walls, and lovely views of the garden. The room benefits from a full-length bath and separate shower cubicle.

There is a separate one-bedroom annexe on the property. This is an excellent lodging for an Airbnb rental, visiting family, or a multi-generational living arrangement.

The ten acres of gardens and paddocks are a stunning feature of this property and offer plenty to keep a keen horticulturalist busy. "There are many wonderful spots to sit and enjoy the garden" explains the current owner, "including the large patio to the rear of the house where you can watch the birds and visiting wildlife on the moat."

The grounds are well established with mature trees and shrubs. There is also a large orchard with a range of apple and pear trees. As you navigate the driveway, there is a wooded area to the left that is densely forested with bluebells. A pond on the property is also popular with ducklings and other wildlife. "We get a lot of wildlife here, including deer and a variety of bird species, including kites."

The property has a generous provision for parking, with space for around five cars.
